Art of the City!

Downtown Dubai is establishing itself as the Centre of Arts, revolutionising the face of the 500-acre megaproject developed by Emaar Properties PJSC. Art and culture are brought right to the heart of the city...

'The Centre of Now'

Celebrating Arab dignity and individuality 'Together' is a new sculpture unveiled in Downtown Dubai this February. Created by Syrian artist Lutfi Romhein, 'Together' consists of two pieces - an Arab man and Arab woman, chiselled to perfection. Crafted from white Carrara marble from Italy, the male figure wears a flowing dish-dasha while the female counterpart in an abaya has been carved from Swedish black granite.

The sculptor drew inspiration from simple and pure lines to demonstrate the duality of man and woman while making a cultural statement on the completeness of life. Mr. Romhein qualified his work saying, "Man and woman - they stand for the origin of life, as well as the door of life. They stand for strength and tenderness. They are different, yet so similar."

Both statues stand tall at 4.25 meters and have been placed on the Emaar Boulevard in Downtown Dubai. Called 'The Centre of Now', the mixed-use project is hailed as the new heart of the city which includes commercial, residential, entertainment, shopping and leisure components featuring the world's largest shopping and entertainment destination - The Dubai Mall and Burj Khalifa, the world's tallest building.

The Pavilion Downtown Dubai

Introducing the city's newest dedicated non-commercial contemporary art space. The Pavilion Downtown Dubai hosts two galleries and will be a place to view, discuss and participate in work by local and international artists. Breaking down walls between art and its audience, The Pavilion Downtown Dubai will host events from book launches to art film screenings and musical performances creating a place for families, enthusiasts and patrons to visit.

The Pavilion serves as a beautiful venue with natural light, white oak finishes, minimalistic white walls and high ceilings, to create an airy space for private events and patrons of the arts. An annual programme of exhibitions and art initiatives is also planned within Dubai's popular lifestyle district.

The focal point of the art space is a trendy café operated by the Emaar Hospitality Group seven days a week from 10.00am to 10.00pm. The Pavilion Downtown Dubai Café will serve contemporary Arabic cuisine, fresh juices and fine coffee and tea beverages at their indoor and outdoor dining areas. The café is the perfect place for a casual coffee, smaller functions and private events.
